FOLKS UP SPRINGVILLE WAY INVITE YOU TO THEIR RODEO, PARADE, WESTERN DANCE

Professional cowboys will be working for gold and glory, plus world championship points, when the Sierra foothill community rolls out the welcome mat and stages its annual rodeo, April 2 and 3.

Arena activity will start at 1:30 p.m. on both Saturday and Sunday; events of the Springville-Sierra rodeo will include saddle and bare-back bronc riding, bull riding, calf roping, steer wrestling, team roping, and women's barrel racing.

Present, past and future world champions will be competing in their specialties, with opposition provided by some of the top broncs, bulls and calves in the nation—the famous Andy Jauregui rodeo string.

Announcing the show will be Lex Connelly; two clowns and bull fighters will provide laughs and thrills — Mike Spencer, a Springville boy who has hit big time rodeo during the past year; and Frank Curry, whose arena antics have entertained rodeo fans throughout the nation.

Billed as "the most sensational riding group California has ever seen" are the "Saddle-Lites", trick riding team directed by one of the greats in this field, Dick Griffith, of Carlsbad, New Mexico. In the troupe are Connie Griffith, of New Mexico; and Kathy Crowe, and Jimmie Medearis, from Texas.

And returning to the Springville-Sierra rodeo arena will be the Porterville Canterbelles, an all-girl, mounted group who will ride their intricate drill pattern.

Reigning as queen of the Springville-Sierra rodeo will be Christine Kibler, of Springville. Her princesses will be Charlene Walker, also of Springville, and Nancy Pomeroy, of Exeter.

Leading off the Springville-Sierra rodeo weekend will be a western parade through the business district at 10 a.m., Saturday, with Grand Marshal Vernon Gill, a third-generation cattleman, leading the way.

Entries have been received from throughout the southern San Joaquin valley and the coast area, including silver mounted riders, baton groups, horse-drawn vehicles, horseless carriages, riding groups, and the famous Porterville High School Panther band.

Springville will be jumping Saturday night, as Dave Stogner brings his western band to town to play for the annual rodeo dance.

Roy Hartley, president of the Springville chamber of commerce, and Carlos Gregg, rodeo association chairman, invite valley people to enjoy the colorful Sierra foothill that will be at their spring best over the weekend.

They state that for individuals or families who want to "make a weekend of it" there are improved recreation facilities at Lake Success and Coffee Camp, also in the higher mountain resort areas.

A wide variety of food and drinks will be served on the rodeo grounds, and there is some space for family picnics in the rodeo arena area.

The annual Springville-Sierra rodeo is a community enterprise, with the rodeo association composed of representatives of the Springville chamber of commerce, the Lions club, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Grange, and the Farm Bureau center.

BIGGEST NAMES IN RODEO WORLD WILL COMPETE AT SPRINGVILLE

Springville will become the Mecca for professional cowboys on Saturday and Sunday, since the Springville-Sierra rodeo is the only major show in the West on this weekend.

It is likely that the entry list will be greater than even three years ago when the show was on national television.

Rodeo fans will most certainly see the top men of the rodeo world in action — and with Andy Jauregui's string of broncs, bulls and calves providing the opposition, action it will be — and lots of it.

Official list of contestants will be compiled following the close of the sign-up period. The rodeo is an RCA-approved, world championship show.

RIDING GROUPS IN PRE-RODEO PERFORMANCES

Two spectacular youth riding groups will provide entertainment prior to the grand entry of the Springville-Sierra rodeo, Saturday and Sunday.

Riding both days will be the Youth Benefit Riders from Ojai, who will present an English jumping drill.

On Saturday the Green Acres Equestrians, an all-girl mounted team from Bakersfield, will present their drill; this group will also ride into the rodeo parade at 10 a.m., Saturday.

TRICK RIDING — "THE SADDLE-LITES"

CONNIE GRIFFITH is shown at right as the star of the "Saddle-Lites" troupe that will perform each afternoon of the Springville-Sierra rodeo, Saturday and Sunday. With Connie will be Kathy Crowe and Jimmie Medearis, from Texas. Under the direction of Connie's husband, Dick Griffith, a former world champion trick rider and four-time world champion bull rider, the "Saddle-Lites" are ranked as the most outstanding group of trick riders that rodeo has seen in two decades. Connie performs tricks no other girl has ever attempted, highlighted by her original somersault into a suicide drag under her horse's tail.

FRANK CURRY GOES FOR LAUGHS, THRILLS

A HOLLYWOOD script writer couldn't come up with a yarn that equals the true story of Frank Curry, one of the nation's top rodeo clowns and bull fighters. The furthest west Frank ever got as a small boy was Manhattan, but after slipping into the Madison Square Garden rodeos, Frank knew his future was in the arena. At 15 years of age he took a try at the bulls in Cincinnati - and ended up in a hospital. But in 1962 Casey Tibbs gave him his first big-time break, and Frank went no place but up from there. Says Tibbs, "First I was scared the kid would be killed, but soon I was feeling sorry for the bulls." Frank is noted for speed, daring, and imagination.

Cowboys Working For $6,500 In Prize Money At Springville-Sierra Rodeo

Cowboys will be competing for over $6,500 total prize money Saturday and Sunday afternoons, April 2 - 3 during the Springville-Sierra rodeo.

With 156 names on the entry log last year, lion's share went to Bob Robinson, of Porterville, with $494 in bull riding.

Other event winners were Walt Mason, Las Vegas, Nev., in bareback bronc riding; Floyd Baze, Mira Loma, Calif., in saddle bronc riding; Jim Sheppard, Sunland, Calif., in calf roping; Bill Gatlin, Lakeside, Calif., in steer wrestling; and Bill Underwood, Bakersfield, and Ron Dilday, of Porterville, in team roping.

Rodeo prize money is a combination of purses put up by the rodeo committee, in this case a total $1,800, plus entry fees of $20 to $30 per event, per man.

Among cowboys planning to compete this year are the current national team roping champion, Jim Rodriguez, Jr., of Paso Robles; Lee Farris, Sebastapol; Bill Hogue, Holtville; Dick Johnson, South San Gabriel; Frank Ferreira Sr., of Fresno.

LEX CONNELLY, who will be behind the mike for a play-by-play report of the Springville-Sierra rodeo Saturday and Sunday, will be working his specialty there for the third year. And as a competitor, Lex knows the Springville show well, having appeared in the old Springville arena many times, and having won the steer wrestling event at Springville in 1952. When he retired from competition in 1957, he worked as Rodeo Cowboy Association Managing Director, and, in 1962, returned to Springville as coordinator for the "Wide World of Sports," when the Springville rodeo was on the ABC television network; he also did the TV commentary on this show. He has appeared on 25 national network programs for ABC and CBS. Handling the mike now for rodeo crowds, Lex presents an accurate description of arena action, plus the color of the professional rodeo, utilizing his experience on the networks and his work as a cowboy competitor.

ANDY JAUREGUI, livestock contractor and arena director for the 1966 Springville-Sierra rodeo, Saturday and Sunday, is at 63 years of age, the oldest active person in rodeo today, his career covering a span of 43 years - and he is one of the most respected men in the cowboy game. In his early contestant days, Andy rode broncs, and for over 20 years was one of California's most consistent winners in calf roping, earning the National Championship in 1931 and 1934. Cattle and horses, he says, have always been his life; since 1929 he and his wife, Camille, have lived on their Placerita canyon ranch, near Newhall, where he trains excellent cow horses, as well as conditioning and schooling livestock for the nearly 40 rodeos that he participates in yearly. And his hobby - well, it's coaching his seven grand children in the art of horsemanship.

We Only Heard

BY BILL RODGERS

TIME SORT of slipped backward for us last Friday night when Jim Martinez walked into the show ring to judge steers at the Strathmore FFA Livestock show, for we remember Jim when he was showing steers himself as a member of the Ducor 4-H club, and spelling his name, Jimmie.

THE FIRST livestock picture we ever took was of Jim with his champion steer at a Tulare County 4-H Achievement day — back in 1947, and we used that picture in the first issue of The Farm Tribune.

SO WE shot a picture of Jim in the Strathmore show ring, then, on a spur-of-the-moment thought, looked in our file for that 1947 photo. And there it was, at the bottom of an accumulation of pictures and notes covering a span of 19 years, which sort of killed any idea we might have had about a modern filing system. What's wrong with the one we have, said we to ourselves?

WELL, THERE are the two pictures on the left, and we might say that a few steers have gone through a few rings between the two.

JIM CAME down out of the Hot Springs mountain country to attend Porterville high school; he served two years in the U.S. army after graduation; attended Cal Poly for a short time, then, in 1957 went to work for John Guthrie. Today he is manager of the Guthrie feed lot northwest of Porterville.

"YES" VOTE

SPRINGVILLE, Mar. 31 — Voters in the Springville Elementary School district said "Yes", to a tax increase from 80 cents to $1.25 for a period of three years to cover increasing costs, to provide new educational and transporting equipment, and to plan future expansion. The vote, Tuesday, was 113-41.

Chapter Sweetheart. Some of the animals shown at Strathmore are being pointed for the Porterville fair in May, others are being taken to the Junior Grand National at the San Francisco Cow Palace during Easter vacation. Going to the Cow Palace are: Mitchell Meek, Don Awbrey, Eddie Eisner, Steve Brinkman, Richard Sheriff, and Byron Tillery, with steers; and Larry Phillips and Lucio Morales, each with two head of swine. Auctioning off Future Farmers for a day's work as a fund raising project for the chapter was Ray Holloway, of Porterville.

Last Friday was a big day on campus for political drama and Machiavellian machinations. The whole affair rose out of a special meeting of the Inter Club Council (ICC).

According to the ICC constitution, any club whose ICC representative misses more than three meetings in a semester will have its club charter suspended. The delegates from the Newman club and College Y had missed three meetings and the ICC met in special session to determine the length of the suspension.

Representative Jim Trask got the ball rolling by moving that both clubs be suspended until the end of the semester. This is the maximum penalty allowed under the ICC constitution. The motion passed 8 - 7.

Chris Owen, Newman club representative, pointed out to the chairwoman, Meg Adams, that the chair can vote to make or break a tie vote. Meg had not voted and, apparently thinking the punishment too severe in the Newman club's case, voted "No" on the motion, thus tying and defeating it.

It was then moved that the Newman club be suspended for one month, or until April 21. The motion carried by the rather large

THERE ARE WORSE THINGS THAN BEING THIRTY - - OR ARE THERE

There are worse things than becoming thirty years old, I guess.

Off hand, I can't think of anything. I mean, here you are sailing along in your twenties and you wake up one morning and you are thirty. It's a shock.

There is no way to prepare yourself. You can try, but it won't work. For the past three or four years I had been telling myself that shucks, thirty wasn't very old, and it isn't very old, either. But, it sure isn't twenty.

The week that I was thirty I caught my first case of the flu. It really slugged me. Had me down for two days. I cried uncle. It happened the week I was thirty. Physical deterioration. March 19, it was a kind of signal. My knee hurts more than it did on March 18.

should have made his mark in the world by the time he was thirty. Nobody has even written a ballad about me. That's not asking too much. A statue in the park is asking quite a lot. But, a ballad, that's just a few words set to music. I wouldn't even care if Sterling Holloway sang it. Or Captain Kangaroo.

I haven't made any marks in the world. I have a few prints here and there, but the first good wind will get rid of them. Let's face it, a man who hasn't had a ballad written about him just hasn't made it.

When you get to the twenty and ten mark you have to evaluate yourself in the harsh light of reality. The guys who keep track of such things say that you only have another forty years or so to make your mark. It ought to be easy today. All you have to do is get blasted into space; first thing you know you got yourself into a ballad, or, at least, the history books. That's the thing all right. I'd like to be out there right now, space walking, docking with other space vehicles, singing little jingles for the folks back home, reciting space poetry, eating breakfast, lunch, and dinner out of a tube. But I got this bad knee and . . .

I remember when I was twenty-seven. Used to walk 10 or 15 miles every day. Didn't think a thing about it back in those days. But, when a man starts to get on in years he kind of has to watch himself, cut down, and turn some of the heavier chores over to the wife.

One thing about it. If I have a choice, I'd rather be thirty than not.

The first red, amber and green traffic light was installed in Detroit in 1919.

MEANWHILE, JIM got himself married to the former Roxaine Reed, and now there are three boys and a girl in the Martinez family.

ALL OF which leads us to mention that Jim has come along real well since we took his picture in 1947.

AND WE might mention also that Tribune livestock photography has come a long way, too. Great balls of fire! Did we set up Jimmie's steer for that 1947 photo?

National lamb crop in 1965 was two per cent less than in 1964.

By JohnNo matter what kind of garden you have, or what kind of gardener you are, we have a Sunset garden book that will aid you. They cover every inch of the field including not growing anything at all. This last includes patios, decks, fountains, and similar good ideas.One book called "Landscaping for Western Living" is especially good. It mentions such things as why gates should be "elbow to elbow"
rather than "knuckle to knuckle" width. It also tells how to have a cool yard in the summer or a heated yard in the winter. Really not difficult to do with some simple planning ahead.Also available are books on vegetable gardening, rock gardens, Bonsai, lawns, flower arranging, and pruning. You could spend all spring reading these and never have to pick up a shovel. After that you can start on their travel books and never have to leave home.While doing these things it would be good to start a sprinkler or two and deep water all of your yard. This is best done by not turning on too much water and then forgetting you turned it on at all. We have such things as sprinklers, garden hose, and repair fittings to aid your cause. In fact we have even more garden items than the average drug store. We hope you'll drop by some time.
